

How are chicken eggs fertilised?

Categories:

Farming

It's a common misconception that a hen is incapable of laying eggs without a rooster around. The only reason to have roosters included among a flock of hens would be to produce fertilised eggs as part of breeding programs. This process happens in specialist hatcheries, not on egg farms.

How are chicken eggs fertilised?